MRS. JEFFERSON DAVIS.

Interview with her Husband at Fortress Monroe---Affecting Scene---Privileges of the Visit---Health of Mr. Davis, &c.

The correspondent of the Norfolk Virginian gives the following interesting, though brief sketch of the visit of Mrs. Davis to Fortress Monroe, her interview with her husband and her remarks about his health.

THE INTERVIEW.

It is now understood that Mrs. Davis, with her little child, had an interview with her husband at half-past eight o'clock yesterday morning. The interview lasted nearly two hours, and must surely have been extremely gratifying to both. In the course of a twelve month many very noticeable changes occur. It was on the evening of the 20th of April, 1865, that the steamer Wm. P. Clyde, from which a few hours before Jefferson Davis had been landed, slowly set sail, and while the steam and smoke issued from her engine and boilers, she moved slowly out of the harbor. The sole passengers on the Clyde were Mrs. Davis and Clay, and her destination was Savannah, the Southern port from which she came.

For nearly a year Mrs. Davis has been refused the privilege of visiting her husband. The result of the many entreaties on her part, and those of her friends, has at last prevailed on the clemency of President Johnson, and the desired boon has been finally granted.

A CALL ON MRS. DAVIS.

Your correspondent presumed yesterday morning at an early hour so much as to call on Mrs. Davis as she was awaiting, in the sitting-room of the Hygeia Hotel, the presence of an officer from the Fortress. Sending in my card by the coloured waiter in attendance, the desired object was at once acceded to.

The sitting room of the hotel has never by any means been noted for its comfort, or the expensiveness of its adornments. Entering the room, and passing through the requisite etiquette, occupied but a few seconds, and the agreeable conversation with Mrs. Davis which ensued was far more than a recompense for the courage which it required to solicit such an interview. The manner and conversation of Mrs. Davis was that of one perfectly at home on all subjects, and extremely lady-like in all her remarks on the various topics of the day which, perchance, were brought up. She had been allowed the privilege of correspondence with her husband, but of the exact state of his health she dared not hope. The favorable opinions formed from the occasional correspondents of Northern papers were often dissipated by assertions perfectly contradictory, and in the long time which has elapsed since she has seen her husband it has often been a mere matter of doubt, owing to the reticence of Mr. Davis in speaking of the subject of his general health. Of the terms of her visit she was not aware, but hoped it would be her privilege to remain at this place until her husband's fate was decided.

HER QUARTERS AT THE FORT.

After conversing for the space of ten minutes your correspondent retired, much impressed with the interview.

Mrs. Davis was accompanied by a large quantity of baggage. All of this was moved inside the Fort last night, and it is confidently presumed that she has made her home at the residence of Dr. Cooper, the post surgeon.

The Memphis Negro Riots.

Our Memphis exchanges gives us the details of the recent negro riots in that city. Instigated probably by the example of their Norfolk brethren and the impunity with which the presence of the military enabled them to murder the whites of that city, the Memphis negroes formed a plan to sack the city and rob the banks and jewelry stores. A fight between a white and negro boy, on the 1st. instant, formed the pretext, and when the police attempted to separate the combatants, they were fired upon by a band of armed negroes. A fight ensued with varying success, as reinforcements were respectively received by either side, but the negroes were badly worsted, ten being killed and a large number wounded. Mr. H. Dunn, a noble young man, who had no connection with the affray, was fiendishly murdered by the blacks, and two citizens and two of the police seriously wounded. The excitement, says the Avalanche, "was frightful, and crowds of men, like huge and angry waves, surged and rocked on every street." The regulars were ordered out to aid in quelling the disturbance, and at a late hour of the night quiet was restored.

During the night the negroes took possession of Fort Pickering and before day some 500 of them attempted to take possession of the Arsenal, but being threatened with a volley of grape retired. General rioting began about 9 A. M., and an inoffensive citizen who was driving a buggy was shot by a negro.

"Then," says the correspondence of the Cincinnati Gazette, (a bitter Radical journal be it remembered) "the war began in earnest.—Startling rumors reached the business portion of the city, and citizens, arming themselves with all sorts of weapons, rushed frantically in crowds to the scene of the riot, breaking into gun and pistol stores as they went, and appropriating all the arms they could find. They were followed by the Sheriff's force, the police force, firemen and a posse, organized and armed by the Mayor. South street was again the battle ground. Here the negroes had collected to the number of at least 1,500, bearing aloft a black flag as their standard, and hooting, yelling, and firing in every direction. Most of them were discharged soldiers, still wearing their uniforms, and were armed with muskets. The citizens charged on them, pouring in a volley of shot at the same time, which caused the negroes to run, leaving some fifteen or twenty of their brethren dead and wounded on the ground.

The return fire killed one citizen and mortally wounded two others. The advantage was pressed and the negroes were driven helter skelter beyond the limits of the city, scattering in every direction. Various rumors are afloat as to the number killed, but it cannot be less than fifteen. I have positive knowledge of eight. I could not learn the names of the white men.—Outside the city limits the torch was applied to several negro dwellings, which are now a mass of smoking ruins. The white troops finally succeeded in stopping the riot, and all is now quiet, with the exception of occasional firing in the suburbs.

Most of the black rioters are skulking beyond the city limits, and the white troops, of whom there are only two companies, are disarming them as rapidly as possible.

I think the riot is at an end, as the negroes have been badly worsted, and there is not much disposition to molest them while they conduct themselves properly, although the firemen and police are much incensed over the death of their comrades killed yesterday, and are prevented with difficulty from wreaking further vengeance on the blacks.

The Avalanche says: "A negro woman made an affidavit to the effect that the negroes of South Memphis have been plotting this defiance to the laws and officers for the past four days; that the plan was to kill the police, sack and burn the city, and that it was approved by the race for many miles around Memphis. It was not confined to this locality, but was wide spread and general." This testimony was also confirmed by one of the dying negro rioters.

The Argus says, "This is the bloom of civil rights—what the fruit will be, God alone can tell. If things progress long as they have been for the past two days, there will be but few "darkies" left in the city to tell of "franchise" and "civil rights."

The Banks of the State.

There are times in the history of communities and nations, when the sober second thought or a change of circumstances entirely neutralize the prejudices of the public, which have been created under the pressure of political or other excitements, to the great damage of the thing, person or persons. In former years much political capital was created by a continuous war upon the Banks. The most bitter and unfounded prejudices were excited against them, which were exhibited in various forms, without the prejudiced party being able in a tithe of cases to give a reason for their existence. As in the case of the dog, the cry of "mad dog" was made, and that was all that was needed.

We have arrived now at that point, when calm, sober thought will correct these prejudices, and when people begin to feel most keenly the loss of those institutions in the State. If our Bank charters and interests had been left untouched and unaffected by the war; if they could to-day open their doors under the same circumstances in which the war opened upon them, but a few years would elapse before the people of North Carolina would again be on their feet, and in such condition as would hush the cry of poverty and want, and forever put to rest the villainous, demoralizing and demagogical cry of repudiation. Now that our own banking system has been utterly disrupted and prostrated, by a National system in whose advantages our people are almost wholly unable to participate, because of their poverty, the prejudices to our own system must give way to bitter regrets which are now beyond the reach of remedy.

The late Legislature, acting doubtless under the severe pressure of the poverty of the people, and the great damage experienced by the Banks from the ruin of the war, refused to grant to the Banks the privilege of re-investing what capital was left them, in National Banking, and provided what may be deemed the fairest, most easy and generous method which could then be devised, for the earliest liquidation of all the Banks of the State.

We are glad to learn that, at the late meeting of the Stockholders of the Bank of Cape Fear, they resolved to accept the privileges of liquidation authorized by the late act of the Legislature, and will at an early period file their bill accordingly.

We learn it is the opinion of legal men who have investigated the subject, that the operation of the recent act of the Legislature, authorizing the Banks to go into liquidation, will relieve or exculpate the stockholders of those Banks whose charters bound their private property for the redemption of their notes, on failure of the assets of the Banks to discharge their obligations.—We think if such an opinion has been given, it is erroneous. We apprehend the late Legislature, or any other, had not the power to change, modify or amend any act of incorporation passed by a previous Legislature, affecting the franchises or the responsibilities of the corporation. Yet we sincerely hope there is no one in the State, or out of it, so lost to all sense of right and justice, so imbued with the lust of selfishness, who entertains the remotest idea of seeking to enforce a provision in the charters of most of our Banks, which would work the utter ruin of the Stockholders.

The incorporation of the clause in some of our Bank charters, making the private property of the Stockholders responsible, was, we think, an error, and was incorporated with no view of really compelling the stockholders to pay, but to quell the opposition which existed at one time to the Banks and to pander to the unfounded prejudices against them. Now, when the Banks are ruined, and the stockholders not only in common with all our citizens have been prostrated by the war, but have lost all their stock, to talk of enforcing that clause of their charters against them, would be a monstrosity so great, as to outrage the feelings of every humane and just man in the State. And when it is considered, as can be fully proven, that these calamities have befallen the Banks and the stockholders, not by any dereliction of their own, but by the demand of the State, accompanied by a threat of forfeiture of their charters, who could be so lost to the feelings of humanity as to countenance such a proceeding? We apprehend no jury in the State and no Court of Equity could be found to sanction it.

EXCELLENT ADVICE.—The South Carolina Leader, one of the special organs of the colored people that have been started in the South, gives the following admirable counsel to its brethren, speaking of the emissaries of Northern fanaticism who are sneaking about the country, it says:

"Colored people of the South, listen to our advice—listen to the dictates of common sense. Beware of false teachers, who come to you in the clothing of sheep, but inwardly are ravenous wolves. These men have no desire to see you on amicable terms with your white neighbors. They come to widen the breach already existing, and to make capital out of the dissensions in our midst. The moment a good understanding exists between you and the whites, that moment their 'occupation is gone;' but if these speculators in ruin attain their aims, we tremble for your race! Cultivate peace with all men, and especially with those with whom your lot is cast."

THE National Intelligencer has pointed out a hole which the Obstruction Committee have left in their net, and to mend which, it says, they will have to bring in another Constitutional amendment. The prohibition of suffrage in Presidential elections to those who were loyal to the Confederacy would be obviated, it contends, by devolving the choice of electors on the Legislature, which it is competent for each State to do.

The Standard, anticipating, doubtless, such a contingency, and apprehending that thereby the proscriptive programme of the President's enemies might be frustrated, assumes that the "electors or voters for members of the Legislature must be the same as those for President and Vice President; and none who participated voluntarily in the rebellion can vote for the latter." This assumption is entirely unwarranted by the terms of the proposed amendment of the Committee, and the eagerness of the Standard to adopt it exhibits, in the most striking manner, its vindictive animus towards that overwhelming majority of our people who honestly stood by the South and its cause in the late conflict. It is conclusive of its sympathies with the policy that has been inaugurated in Tennessee under the auspices of its co-"eminent patriot," Brownlow, and its desire to disfranchise and persecute its own fellow-citizens, large numbers of whom it educated to the belief that secession was a Constitutional remedy.

It attempts to sustain its position by quoting sec. 2, Art. 1, of the present Constitution, which provides:

"The House of Representatives shall be composed of members chosen every second year by the people of the several States, and the electors in each State shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the most numerous branch of the State Legislature."

It thus arrives at its conclusions by such puerile and false logic as this: Inasmuch as it is prescribed that the electors for members of Congress shall have the qualifications requisite for electors of the Legislature, and inasmuch as it is proposed to alter or restrict the qualifications of the former, that, therefore, those of the latter are similarly altered or restricted.—This is one of those cases of a non-constat (to use one of Chief Justice Pearson's phrases, when he clinches an argument,) that is so palpable as to be positively amusing.

Besides, Congress, through its Radical Committee, simply proposes to change the qualifications of its own electors. It does not pretend to interfere with the qualifications of voters for the State Legislature. Such a gross usurpation of power, on its part, will not be attempted even by the Jacobin faction, who have, thus far, manifested but little respect for either right, justice, Constitution or law. Do we understand the Standard, the erewhile champion of the reserved rights of the States, of strict construction, and the once bitter enemy of consolidation, to admit the power of Congress to legislate upon the qualifications of electors for the State Legislatures? "We pause for a reply,"—and we fear we shall have to "pause," as long as we have done, in waiting for its answer to our enquiry as to what had become of that mysterious individual, "We shall see," who had personal knowledge of a "traitorous secret cabal in this State!"

Bills of North Carolina Banks.

There is in the possession of the people of North Carolina quite a large amount, in the aggregate, though small in individual cases, of the bills or notes issued by the Banks of the State. We presume that all the Banks are disposed to redeem their notes at their counters for what they esteem them to be actually worth. We learn that the Bank of Cape Fear, at its late meeting, resolved to redeem its outstanding bills in greenbacks at 25 cents in the dollar. We have good authority for saying that this is their full value, or the extent of the ability of the Bank to pay at present. Few who are acquainted with the affairs of the Bank believe that it will ever be able to do more. We judge, therefore, it is advisable, that holders of the bills of N. C. Banks would do as well to present the bills at the Banks as soon as possible, or, if they prefer to risk it, they can soon deposit them with the several Commissioners, who may be appointed to settle their affairs, and receive in the end the pro rata value of their claims.

Pardons in North Carolina.

The Washington letter writers, in their anxiety to furnish sensation items, and in many instances to prejudice the South with Radical readers, announced the other day that all the petitions from this State, on file, had been decided upon for pardon, and would be forwarded as soon as the necessary papers could be made out.

We learn, from a friend in Washington, cognizant of the facts, that this announcement is premature. What has been done is, that quite a number of those, whose crime was simply holding a petty office under the late Confederate Government, have been pardoned, most of them upon the recommendation of Gov. Worth, and that their pardons will be forwarded in a short time. The arrangements made by Gov. Worth, in reference to this matter, are such as will insure the most prompt and the earliest action possible in the premises. The President, however, must select his own time and way to dispose of them.

IN NOTICING Mr. Pollard's forthcoming history of the war, entitled "The Lost Cause," we neglected to warn our readers against a spurious publication attempted to be thrust upon the public by C. B. Richardson, publisher. The publishers of the genuine edition are Messrs. E. B. Treat & Co., New York.

GOLD closed in New York, at the latest advices, at 126¼. Cotton firm, with sales of 1,000 bales at 34@35 cents.

The present yearly pay of the Lieutenant General is $16,080. Under the new bill creating the office of "General" it will be $17,640.

THE FRANCHISE LAW IN TENNESSEE.—It would appear that the statement in the telegram furnished to the Southern papers, and published two or three days ago, was exactly the reverse of the truth. It was announced that the Tennessee Legislature had "rejected" the disfranchising bill, but the following, which we find in the Washington Chronicle, would indicate that such is not the case:

"A despatch from Nashville, to Mr. Fowler, Senator elected, dated May 3, says the Franchise bill passed the Senate on that day, thirteen to six, without amendment.

The Bill a Law.—Hon. Horace Maynard also received, yesterday, a despatch from Governor Brownlow as follows:

NASHVILLE, May 3.—The Franchise bill passed the Senate to-day, thirteen to six. It is now a law.

W. G. BROWNLOW,
Governor of Tennessee."

This infamous bill disfranchises two-thirds of the voters in the State.

For the Sentinel

CHAPEL HILL, May 2, 1866.

MESSRS EDITORS:—The most distressing case of "exeoethes scribendi," that it has ever been my misfortune to behold, came under my observation in your paper recently. With a very little tax on my imagination, I can see the writhings of the agonized sufferer through all the various stages of the dire disease, until it finally culminated in a rhodomontade over the signature of "Quid Nunc." Now, I always experience, to a greater or less extent, it may be attributable to my excessive tenderness of feeling, an unpleasant heaviness at heart, when thrown in contact with any kind of suffering; and the peculiarly malignant form of "Q N's" affliction has excited the compassionate part of my nature in an extraordinary degree. However, if he will promise not to squirm under the operation, I will endeavor to pour the soothing "balm of consolation" over his fevered frame and morbid mind, conjuring him to remember that "nothing is so bad, but it might be worse," and that

"Diseases desperate grown
By desperate appliance are relieved!"

In the first place, let me inqufre who is "Quid Nunc?" A short dissection will portray him in the "majesty of his proportions." Whoever he be, his dauntless independence of grammatical rules, and perfect innocence of proper construction of the English language, command my warmest admiration, tho' terror should be struck to the appalled spirits of Smith and Bullion.—In a former communication I was so unfortunate as to draw a comparison between the "student dandies of olden time"—who teased 'fresh,' and I can prove it—and the "sable drones who now throng our streets." This mythical writer, disclaiming the championship of the "fresh," cannot, however, still the philanthropic beatings of his large heart for this "oppressed" (?) class, but blindly makes the comparison himself, imputes it to me, and fearlessly assails it; when the most limited knowledge of punctuation should have shown him the error of his premises. This is re-freshing.

Again.—O, ghost of Murray, draw thy mantle closer round thy injured form!—he says the "well balanced minds of one of them," &c.—Will he please inform me of what philosopher he is a follower, who gives to one man a plurality of minds? He dwells with fervid pertinacity on "licentiates,"—now, he had better look out, for if he ever designs studying law he may tremble under the truism: "Uneasy rests the head that wears a crown."

I am the more obliged for his discovery of "sparkling wit" in my effusions, as it wasn't intended as such.

I believe I have culled the most attractive buds from "Q. N.'s" "heterogeneous mass of incongruous matter," and you, Messrs. Editors, can "ex uno disere omnes," though, had I essayed a satire, a mere republication of his communication would have proved sufficient. I will now bid him a tearful adieu. "Requiescat in pace!"

Commencement—first week in June—is beginning to create a little stir among house keepers, market women, and soph and fresh competitors—the former busying themselves in replenishing their larders in anticipation of the numerous guests, the latter practicing on their speeches to be declaimed on that momentous occasion.

By appointment, the class, that was graduated ten years ago, will reunite under the apron of their "Alma Mater," and a prize be awarded the husband with the largest boy—I think the premium is a cradle. I bespeak for them an agreable time. "Frui priore vita est vivere bis."

Judge Battle has ten law students, unconnected with college. 'Tis a grim comfort to know (V. W's idea) that if they starve for want of "cause," 'twill, at least, be in a decent crowd. "ELTTAB."

Important Negotiation.

WASHINGTON, May 6.—A negotiation of considerable magnitude has just been concluded with the Mexican Minister here, which involves the cession to certain leading American capitalists of nearly the entire Peninsula of Lower California. The cession is made for colonization purposes and to secure the development of the extraordinary mineral wealth of that Territory. The Mexican Government retains an interest in the proceeds of the enterprise; but it is understood the sum advanced by the parties who have secured the grant is upwards of a million of dollars, which, at this time, will be of important service to the Liberal cause.

Death of Rev. David B. Nicholson.

The delegates from the North Carolina Conference present at the General Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, met in New Orleans, April 18th, 1866, and unanimously adopted the following resolutions:

Resolved, That having heard by telegram of the departure of our brother, Rev. David B. Nicholson, the Presiding Elder of the Newbern District, we are deeply touched and humbled by this dispensation of Divine Providence.

Resolved, That in the death of our brother, the North Carolina Conference has been greatly bereaved; it is the loss of a true friend, an honest man, a wise adviser, and a devoted minister of Jesus.

Resolved, That we mingle our grief with that of all our brethren of the North Carolina Conference, and of the thousands who have known and revered the deceased through his long and pure labors in the ministry.

Resolved, That our brotherly condolence is tenderly offered to the stricken widow and orphans of our beloved brother, and that our prayers shall be made to the throne of the heavenly grace in their behalf, that they may have the succor and comfort of faith in this hour of their deep and severe affliction.

Resolved, That a copy of these resolutions be furnished to Mrs. Nicholson, and published in the Daily Advocate in this city.

GENERAL NEWS.

In the House of Representatives, on Friday, the Speaker presented a message from the President transmitting, in reply to a resolution of the House, reports from the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Attorney General and the Commissioner of Freedmen's Affairs, relative to the amount of abandoned land seized and restored, the number of pardons granted, &c., since the issuing of the amnesty proclamation of May, 1865. These documents are very voluminous, and include many orders and proclamations heretofore published. It appears, however, that the number of acres of land seized under the act of July 2, 1862, and restored by the Freedmen's Bureau, is 15,452; of abandoned land allotted to Freedmen's Bureau and restored by the Bureau 14,652 acres; of abandoned property not allotted to the Freedmen's Bureau, but restored, 400,000 acres. Total amount of land seized and restored, 430,141 acres. The number of pardons passed upon by the Attorney General and granted by the President, [mostly under the 13th exception of the amnesty proclamation,] are 7,149. Still in the department and unacted upon, 707. Of this number the largest amount of pardons have been granted to Alabama, 1,361; Georgia, 1,228, and South Carolina, 648. The property of ex-Governor Aiken, of South Carolina, has been restored to him on the recommendation of General Sickles.

IMPORTANT ORDER FROM THE PRESIDENT.—The President has instructed General Canby to release the sequestrated cotton at New Orleans, and not again interfere with the United States Court. The cotton has been released and the court reopened.

LABOUR FOR THE SOUTH.—Three hundred German immigrants have just arrived at Augusta, Georgia. They are all engaged, and are to be paid $150 per annum, with board and lodging for each man, and $100 for each woman.

THE ORDINATION OF THE METHODIST BISHOPS.—This impressive ceremonial act of dedication took place on Sunday last at the Carondelet-street Methodist Church, after a discourse by the Rev. Dr. Lovick Pierce, the oldest Methodist minister in attendance on the General Conference. Bishop Andrew officiated, assisted by Bishops Early, Paine, Kavanaugh, and Pierce. The immense auditorium was densely crowded, and the ceremonies had a most impressive effect. —New Orleans Picayune 1st.

FORTRESS MONROE, May 5.—Mrs. Davis has been assigned to a casemate inside the fortress.

[Rather singular quarters for this distinguished lady.]

DIVISION OF TENNESSEE.—A convention met at Knoxville, Tennessee, on Thursday, for the purpose of initiating measures to divide the State and set off the eastern counties into a separate State, to be called East Tennessee.

RICHMOND, May 5.—Governor Pierpoint has appointed Hon. Alexander Rives, of Albemarle, Judge of the Supreme Court of Appeals, to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Judge Thompson

A general bill on the subject of executive appointments is in preparation, which is designed to destroy the constitutional prerogatives of the President. So we go towards an oligarchy.

The Merchants' National Bank of Washington closed its doors on Friday last, broken beyond all hope. It is said that the bills issued by it will be redeemed, but that depositors will lose heavily. The Government will be let in for about $700,000, and private parties for the snug little sum of $250,000. This is a fine start towards a general bankruptcy, occurring in the very centre of the nation, where it might naturally be supposed that the greatest precautions would be taken against such a thing.

One hundred and twenty-five bales of cotton were received on Wednesday by Colonel William Lamb, agent of the "International Commercial Company," of Norfolk, for shipment to Liverpool by the Ephesus.

The negroes can't live if they don't work.—So dig, nig.—Louisville Journal.

But suppose the nig. considers it infra dig., what then?

Andy Johnson's veto of the Freedman's Bureau bill was a valuable document—worth just $11,684,450 to the nation.

A trial of skill by the telegraphers of New England and New York will take place on Monday, 7th inst., the prize being a silver telegraph key.

The annual mortality of the negro population is eight per cent., while that of the white is only two, in Louisville, Kentucky.

OUGHT TO BE PUNISHED.—Some person or persons, during the night of the 2d inst., cut the halyards by which the flag of the United States was hoisted to the staff in front of the quarters of the Freedman's Bureau. The perpetrators of this outrage should be punished. It may have been a thoughtless act, but it was one calculated to give offence, and from which no possible good could result. If this act was committed in wantonness by one who ever claimed to be a good Confederate, permit us to say to him, that his zeal was entirely misplaced, and that it was lacking in good sense and discretion.—Goldsboro' News.

Secretary Stanton's Coup d'Etat.

Galileo was right. The world does move. The great gun of the radicals in the Cabinet, supposed to be firm as a rock, has been turned against them. Secretary Stanton, the slayer of the Philistines, has declared in favor of President Johnson's restoration policy. The radical reconstruction scheme of the joint committee of Congress has proved too radical for Stanton. Perceiving, with the segacity of an old campaigner, that this scheme is sure to prove a bad investment, he seizes the first occasion of a Cabinet council to express his unbounded admiration of the wise and beneficent policy of the administration. This movement of the enthusiastic Stanton at this crisis is as remarkable as the abandonment of the Jacobins by Danton in the midst of the bloody French "Reign of Terror." Danton, like Stanton, from the profession of a lawyer became a republican leader remarkable for his energy and terrible activity against the rebels and copperheads of his day; but Danton, in pleading for mercy to the Girondists, brought upon himself the wrath of Robespierre and the axe of the guillotine. Stanton, like Danton, has evidently had blood enough of his own countrymen and will also have to answer to his Robespierre of the convention; but unlike Danton, Stanton, in having the balance of power on his side, will come off the victor. Thus the great outrage against justice and humanity perpetrated in the execution of Danton will as an event in history be rectified in the triumph of Stanton—N. Y. Herald.

AN UPRIGHT JUDGE.—Judge Fowle, of North Carolina quite fills our idea of a judicial exponent of law without refence to persons or opinions. He takes the President's peace proclamation as a fact, and he allows its legitimate effect, without fear, favor or affection. He even denies the right of the President to limit the consequence of his Executive action by subsequent declarations, and the legal mind of the world will recognize the propriety of the decision.—Richmond Examiner.

DIED.

Trial of Major Jno. H. Gee.

SYNOPSIS OF TESTIMONY.

FORTY-THIRD DAY.

MONDAY, May 7, 1866.

Examination of Poulson, continued.—Bread baked in a loaf of 1½ or 1¼ lbs, was issued each day; ½ lb. of beef and soup, rice, molasses and any other delicacies the surgeons might prescribe,—chicken, butter, &c., constituted the diet in the hospital. This diet was regulated by the assistant surgeons. At the time I left I was able to supply their requisitions for the prisoners of war. There was a regular diet list sent to General Hospital No. 9, which was prepared there and sent into the prison hospital by prisoners of war or convicts detailed for that special purpose. This list was a slip of paper made out in lead pencil, containing such articles as the surgeons wished the sick to have. We purchased the vegetables from the market carts, obtained some from the garden and we had messengers out in the country to get all they could. It consisted of potatoes, cabbage, tomatoes, peas and onions, and they were issued principally in soups. We seldom got anything in October and November, other than potatoes and onions.

No difference in either quantity or quality between diet to sick prisoners of war and to the sick of the guards.

I was a hospital Steward at general hospital No. 13, at Richmond, before I was ordered to Salisbury.

[Witness read from hospital record book a form of parole for a man detailed as a hospital attendant]

I never read that before. I don't know of any form of parole.

Soap was so scarce that it could not be had. The sick were reported every morning to the clerk in general hospital No. 9, and daily reports were made to the commandant of the post, weekly reports to the Medical Director, and monthly reports to the Surgeon General. Maj. Gee was commandant of the post while the prisoners of war were there. Except the wounded at the outbreak, I don't remember any wounded prisoners of war being taken into the hospitals—not one.

I would not necessarily have known it if there had been any; all I had to know was the number in hospital under treatment. I was the only dispensing clerk and Dr. Currey made an effort first to obtain one from the medical director. He did not succeed and then applied to the Surgeon General. In the meantime I was relieved, and he was left without any. There was a prisoner who assisted me in putting up prescriptions, and when the pressure was so great the assistant surgeons assisted me. Dr. Currey often made requisitions that were not filled. (Witness looks at requisition made Oct. 10th, approved by Major Gee.) These articles were received from the medical purveyor and issued to the prisoners of war and other patients. Don't know whether it was essential for Major Gee to approve the requisitions, but it was done. Frequent requisitions were made on Capt. Goodman, post quartermaster, who referred us to the prison quartermaster, Major Morfit, who stated that he had nothing to do with the hospital, and it was referred back to Capt. Goodman. Dr. Currey obtained the endorsement of both and forwarded it to the Surg. Gen. It was a long time before we heard from it, and then Major Morfit wrote to Dr. Currey to make all requisitions on him, that the prison hospital was under his charge. The prison hospitals were supplied with wood by the quartermaster. It was hauled in wagons. There was an order from the War Department prohibiting us from paying market wagons enormous prices, and for us to make contracts with gardeners, and rely upon hospital gardens.

The Confederate hospitals were only allowed disabled men as attendants. There were no woolen blankets received while I was there, nor hatchets and axes, upon the requisitions.

Cross Examined.—Something accrued to the hospital fund from saving on the rations of the prisoners of war. When certain articles were not drawn they were commuted, and the amount was given to the hospital fund. In October and November the fund accrued from the Commissary's commuting for articles he did not have on hand.

The cooking for the inside hospital was done at No. 9, except a portion of the bread. The largest number of sick was from 500 to 700 in both hospitals, after the prisoners of war came. I have known the inside hospital to be supplied with delicacies. I think chickens were cooked daily in October and through part of November. Potatoes and cabbage were used from the garden at headquarters after the prisoners of war came.

I was at the prison at the time of the outbreak. I went inside the prison—had no gun in my hand. I think I saw Mr. Davis near the gate. Don't remember whether I had a conversation with him.

To Court.—I presume nine-tenths of the medicine upon the requisitions was received.—Quinine was selling at $150 an oz. Whiskey was $100 and $150 per gallon—corn whiskey.

We purchased medicine out of the hospital fund.

Did not buy whiskey, quinine or opium in October or November. The hospital fund was more than $25,000 in these two months. After the requisitions were made, two or three days after, a messenger was sent for supplies. He never came back without them.

Special requisitions were always filled. Such articles as we had we sent in to the prison and they were distributed there.

Re-Direct.—Dr. Curry understood that the expenditures could not exceed $5000 per month.

Cross Examined.—During the month of March I think the commutation was $300 per ration. The Commissary had no articles that he could sell to the hospital. We could draw, but not purchase.

Maj. Gee had no control over the hospital fund or the food issued to the sick prisoners of war.

The stove was purchased out of the hospital fund and charged as a stove on the account current.

A. Myers, Richmond, Va.,—38 years old, Major and Chief Purchasing Commissary for the 3d district of North Carolina in 1864 and '65, while the prisoners of war were at Salisbury.—Prior to their arrival, the supplies were very small indeed. I had shipped everything I could gather up, to Richmond, Goldsboro' and Wilmington, by order of the Department. After the arrival of the prisoners, constant and continued demands were made upon me to meet the pressing wants of Gen. Lee's army, to which I was unable to respond, as all the supplies that could be possibly secured were needed for the prisoners and troops at Salisbury. Confederate currency had so much depreciated that it was not available as a purchasing medium. Impressment had to be resorted to, of the most odious and objectionable form, to meet the requisitions of Maj. Gee. Supplies such as the prisoners and troops were accustomed to, could not be had.

I received notice of the coming of the prisoners two nights and a day before they came.

The supplies were very limited. Don't think I had more than 60 barrels of flour and 500 lbs. of bacon. We had rice and salt sufficient, a large quantity of salt. There were 20,000 rations of rice probably; the ration was 10 lbs to 100 men. Our schedule of rations was probably the same as that of the U. S. at the begining of the war, but was afterward changed. At that time, the legal ration was 1 lb beef or ¾ lb of bacon, (or 1 lb of potatoes or 1 gill and ¼ of sorghum in lieu of meat,) 10 lbs of rice to 100 rations and 3 quarts of salt, 1 lb and ½ of flour. The ration was changed on 1st of December; reduced to 1 lb of flour or meal. Supplies were very difficult to get. I had agents all over the district. I had shipped every thing out and it took most diligent efforts to procure that. I got them by purchase, by impressment. I had been putting off impressing as long as I could.

After they came, besides purchasing, having agents all over the district and impressing, I had to borrow supplies from the people. They were not returned while the prisoners of war were there.

The defence offered in evidence the letter book of the witness, who read from it numerous letters and telegrams written by him during the time the prisoners of war were at Salisbury.

They were addressed to the different Commissaries throughout the State, to the Bureau of Subsistence, to Confederate Commissaries and to his agents sent out through the country to procure supplies. In these letters Major Myers made the strongest appeals, orders and requests for assistance. He stated the immense pressure upon him, his difficulty in getting subsistence stores, and showed that he was doing all in his power, with a terrible paucity of resources, to feed the prisoners

One of these, written to S. B. French, U. S. Bureau of Subsistence, at Richmond, was a request in regard to building a bakery. The witness stated that before a reply came Major Gee had himself put up the building, in addition to the cook-house already in use.

In another letter he protested against grain in his district being sent to distilleries, as it was all needed for the post. In some of them he referred to the necessity that compelled him to stop supplies in transitu for Richmond.

The witness stated that on one occasion he went to the depot to secure a lot of beef, and the Railroad agent refused to give it up without a show of force. The witness went to Major Gee, who told him to secure it by all means, and gave him a guard of five men and a non-commissioned officer. The witness returned with these men and seized the beef.

Major Myers described his position as desperate, having over 13,000 men to provide for and his stores so scarce that he had often not a day's rations ahead.

Court adjourned.

THE LADIES' MEETING,—THE 10TH OF MAY.—We are requested to announce a change in the hour for the proposed meeting of the ladies, on Thursday. They are invited to assemble in the Senate Chamber, on that afternoon, at 4 o'clock, instead of at 11 o'clock, A. M., as heretofore stated. They are expected to come with flowers and garlands, already prepared, in order to proceed to the decoration of the graves of the lamented and heroic dead. We are sure that there will be such an attendance as will be eloquent of the devotion of our fair townswomen to the memories of the loved and fallen.

"Bring flowers, pale flowers, o'er the bier to shed,
A crown for the brow of the early dead!
For this through its leaves both the white rose burst;
For this in the woods was the violet nursed;
Though they smile in vain for what once was ours;
They are love's last gift—bring flowers, pale flowers!"

SOUTHERN CHRISTIAN CONVENTION.—The Southern Convention of the Christian Church convened at Mt. Auburn, Warren Co., on the 2nd.

Rev. W. B. Wellons, of the Eastern Virginia Conference, was unanimously chosen President of the Conference for the next four years.

CONVENTION OF THE PROTESTANT EPISCOPAL CHURCH.—It has been stated that the next Diocesan Convention of the Protestant Episcopal Church will be held on the 16th of May.—This is an error. The Convention will be held in Newbern, on the last Wednesday in May,—which falls on the 30th.

MECKLENBURG SUPERIOR COURT.—The Spring term of this Court is in session the present week. Several cases of larceny have been tried, and five negroes and one white man were sentenced to receive from 15 to 39 lashes at the whipping post, which sentence was duly executed. A negro woman was tried for killing a negro man on the plantation of Mr. Allen Stuart, in 1864.—The Jury rendered a verdict of justifiable homicide, and the woman was discharged.

RIOT IN MORGANTON.—We learn, from the Old North State, that a riot took place at Morganton, a few days ago, which resulted in the United States regular troops stationed there driving some returned negro soldiers from the town. The negroes, who went off with General Stoneman, at the time of his raid into Western North Carolina, and joined the Federal army, it seems have been mustered out of service recently, and have just returned to their old homes with lofty notions of their rights. They showed some insolence, it is said, at other places, but at Morganton it was resented by the soldiers, who drove the negroes off.

STRANGE STORY.—A HOUSE RISES FROM ITS FOUNDATION.—The Alabama Coahomian of the 17th ult. has the following: "As several of our citizens were standing this morning near the store-house of Robinson & Pearce, it was discovered to be gradually rising from its foundation, which it continued to do until it reached a perpendicular height of about eighteen inches from its pillars. Light could be distinctly seen from one end to the other between the sill of the house and its brick pillars. The firm has closed the house, and at the hour of going to press the most intense excitement prevailed throughout the town."

General Braxton Bragg is living on a farm in Alabama, acting as agent for another person. He has lost all he owned before the war.

HOW THEY TREAT THE F. B.'S IN WASHINGTON.—Last week a gentleman from North Carolina, but now connected with the Southern Express Company, met in Washington one of his former slaves, whom the war had liberated. The negro, recognizing his former master, lifted his hat, and they shook hands on the avenue. Said the gentleman, "Come, Sam, I reckon you want something to drink," and the two stepped into a saloon. "Here, barkeeper, give this boy something to drink." The barkeeper looked at the complexion presented by the case, and launched out in a tirade of abuse against the gentleman, whom he turned a "d—d Radical negro worshipper," and said that if he gave that nigger a drink it would ruin his house, for no white man who heard of it would ever enter it again. The gentleman explained that the negro was at one time his slave, and he his master, and so far from being a Radical or a worshipper of the negro, he was a strong Southern man in feeling and sentiment, and had fought in the Southern army. The astonished bar-keeper put up both his hands with "Well, I never," and supplied an extra julep for Sam, convinced that the real friends of the negro, after all, were not the Radicals, but their former masters.—Richmond Examiner.

An Extraordinary Statement in Regard to Rheumatism and Pleurisy.

Peter Vaden, Esq., Dinwiddie county, Va., (Nov. 6, 1865,) says: "In August 1857, my wife, aged 66 years, was taken ill with what the doctor called a Bilious Rheumatism affecting her whole system; rendering her entirely helpless, so much so, that she had to be lifted and fed as an infant, for the space of three months, suffering the most excruciating pain; her hands drawn out of shape and stiff, so that she could not use them. After all other remedies failed in January 1858, I was advised to get the SOUTHERN HEPATIC PILLS for her. She used the Pills strictly according to the directions accompanying them, and we soon discovered a change for the better, and in one month's using she was well, and continued so up to the present time; has become fleshy, cheerful, and as active as one could be of her age. One of my servants was taken with a violent attack of Bilious Pleurisy. I gave him those Pills, and in about ten days he was up and at his work; said that he felt as well as he ever did, and has continued well ever since.—Another was taken with Pleurisy. I gave the Pills, and she was well and at her work in ten days after she commenced using them. My Doctor's bill has been heretofore from $175 to 200 per year. I have used them in my family, which consists of eighteen white and colored, and have not called in a doctor during the year. This is a great saving. They certainly are the best family medicine ever discovered. After a fair trial I can recommend them as such."

A NEW AND GRAND EPOCH IN MEDICINE!

DR. MAGGIEL is the founder of a new Medical System! The quantitarians, whose vast internal doses enfeeble the stomach and paralyze the bowels, must give precedence to the man who restores health and appetite, with from one to two of his extraordinary Pills, and cures the most virulent sores with a box or so of his wonderful and all healing Salve. These two great specifics of the Doctor are fast superseding all the steel-typed nostrums of the day. Extraordinary cures by Maggiel's Pills and Salve have opened the eyes of the public to the inefficiency of the (so called) remedies of others, and upon which people have so long blindly depended. Maggiel's Pills are not of the class that are swallowed by the dozen, and of which every box fail taken creates an absolute necessity for another. One or two of Maggiel's Pills suffices to place the bowels in perfect order, tone the stomach, create an appetite, and render the spirits light and buoyant! There is no griping, and no reaction in the form of constipation. If the liver is affected, its functions are restored; and if the nervous system is feeble it is invigorated. This last quality makes the medicines very desirable for the wants of delicate females. Ulcerous and eruptive diseases are literally extinguished by the disinfectant power of Maggiel's Salve. In fact, it is here announced that Maggiel's Bilious, Dyspepic and Diarrhea Pills cure where all others fail. While for Burns, Scalds, Chilblains, Cuts and all abrasions of the skin Maggiel's Salve is infallible. Sold by J. MAGGIEL, 43 Fulton Street, New York, and all Druggists, at 25 cts. per box. Sold by all Druggists in Raleigh.

It was left for this day and hour to realize the dream, and show in one glorious fact, that magic that made it fair.

THESE FAMOUS REMEDIES

Cannot stay the flight of years, but they can force back, and hold aloof, diseases that might triumph over the aged and the young. Let none hesitate then, but seize the favorable opportunity the offers. When taken as prescribed—

VEGETABLE COMPOUNDS.

They will not harm the most delicate female, and can be given with good effect in prescribed doses to the youngest babe,

FOR CUTANEOUS DISORDERS

CLEANSE THE BLOOD.

With corrupt, disordered or vitiated Blood, you are sick all over. It may burst out in Pimples, or Sores, or in some active disease, or it may merely keep you listless, depressed and good for nothing. But you cannot have good health while your blood is impure. AYER'S SARSAPARILLA purges out these impurities and stimulates the organs of life into vigorous action, restoring the health and expelling disease. Hence it rapidly cures a variety of complaints which are caused by impurity of the blood, such as Scrofula, or Kings' Evil, Tumors, Ulcers, Sores, Eruptions, Pimples, Blotches, Boils, St. Anthony's Fire, Rose or Erysipelas, Tetter or Salt Rheum, Scald Head, Ring Worm, Cancer or Cancerous Tumors, Sore Eyes, Female Diseases, such as Retention, Irregularity, Suppression, Whites, Sterility, also Syphilis or Venereal Diseases, Liver Complaints, and Heart Diseases. Try Ayer's Sarsaparilla, and see for yourself the surprising activity with which it cleanses the blood and cures these disorders.

During late years the public have been misled by large bottles, pretending to give a quart of Extract of Sarsaparilla for one dollar. Most of these have been frauds upon the sick, for they not only contain little, if any, Sarsaparilla, but often no curative properties whatever. Hence, bitter disappointment has followed the use of the various extracts of Sarsaparilla which flood the market, until the name itself has become synonymous with imposition and cheat. Still we call this compound "Sarsaparilla," and intend to supply such a remedy as shall rescue the name from the load of obloquy which rests upon it. We can only assure the sick, that we offer them the best alterative which we know how to produce, and we have reason to believe, it is by far the most effectual purifier of the blood yet discovered by any body.

Ayers Cherry Pectoral is so universally known to surpass every other remedy for the cure of Coughs, Colds, Influenza, Hoarseness, Croup, Bronchitis, Incipient Consumption, and for the relief of Consumptive Patients in advanced stages of the disease, that it is useless here to recount the evidence of its virtues. The world knows them.

Prepared by DR. J. C. AYER & Co., Lowell, Mass., and sold by Williams & Haywood, P. F. Pescud, Raleigh, N. C., and Dealers generally.

GENERAL REMARKS.

Revenue stamps may be used indiscriminately upon any of the matters or things enumerated in Schedule B, except proprietary and playing card stamps, for which a special use has been provided.

Postage stamps cannot be used in payment of the duty chargeable on instruments.

It is the duty of the maker of an instrument to affix and cancel the stamp required thereon. If he neglects to do so, the party for whose use it is made may stamp it before it is used; but in no case can it be legally used without a stamp; and if issued after the 30th of June, 1864, and used without a stamp, it cannot be afterwards effectually stamped. Any failure upon the part of the maker of an instrument to appropriately stamp it renders him liable to a penalty of two hundred dollars.

Suits are commenced in many States by other process than writ, viz: summons, warrant, publication, petition, &c., in which cases these, as the original processes, severally require stamps.

Writs of scire facias are subject to stamp duty as original processes

The jurat of an affidavit, taken before a Justice of the Peace, Notary Public, or other officer duly authorized to take affidavits, is held to be a certificate, and subject to a stamp duty of five cents, except when taken in suits or legal proceedings

Certificates of loan, in which there shall appear any written or printed evidence of an amount of money to be paid on demand, or at a time designated, are subject to stamp duty as "Promissory Notes."

The assignment of a mortgage is subject to the same stamp duty as that imposed upon the original instrument; that is to say, for every sum of five hundred dollars, or any fractional part thereof of the amount secured by the mortgage at the time of its assignment, there must be fixed a stamp or stamps denoting a duty of fifty cents

When two or more persons join in the execution of an instrument, the stamp to which the instrument is liable under the law may be affixed and canceled by any one of the parties.

In conveyances of real estate, the law provides that the stamp affixed must answer to the value of the estate or interest conveyed.

No stamp is required on any warrant of attorney accompanying a bond or note, when such bond or note has affixed thereto the stamp or stamps denoting the duty required; and whenever any bond or note is secured by mortgage, but one stamp duty is required on such papers, such stamp duty being the highest rate required for such instruments, or either of them. In such case, a note or memorandum of the value or denomination of the stamp affixed should be made upon the margin or in the acknowledgment of the instrument which is not stamped.
